What About Spardi Gras? Campus Poll Will Ask Students Tomorrow

Science Student 450,000 OF THEM Has Bee Colony

Bees—450,000 of them!

A hum-stinger of a hobby is that of Rocki Pisano, science student, owner and operator of his own private honey factory.

Nine hives of 50,000 bees apiece, producing as much as 50 pounds of honey to the hive, constitute Rocki's bee farm which he has operated at his home in San Jose for two years.

Chief duty involved in Rocki's business is guarding against diseases and insects that might destroy the bees.

San Jose climate is beneficial to the bees, Rocki declares. It never gets too cold, even in winter for the bees to require special shelters in order to keep warm.

One hobbyist who hopes to make use of his avocation in his future work, Rocki intends to use the bees for experimental research in biological science.

Talk On Bar Exams Heard At Pre-Legal Club Meeting Today

Preparation for bar exams will be discussed by Mr. Ferdinand Palla at a meeting of the Pre-Legal club to be held today at 12:30 in Room 11.

Mr. Palla is a San Jose State college graduate. He recently completed his law studies at the Boalt Hall of Law, University of California, and last March passed the state bar exam.

Questions Give Annual Affair 'Going Over'

Hey, student, what do you think about Spardi Gras?

Did you enjoy it? Should it be continued in future years? Or is the whole business a nuisance that you'd like to see discontinued?

Tomorrow you may be given an opportunity to answer these questions when the Campus Poll of Student Opinion interviews a representative cross-section of the student body to determine popular attitude about the annual celebration.

And just so that you can be thinking about it in the meantime, here are the questions which the interviewers will ask:

QUESTIONS

1. In your opinion, did this year's Spardi Gras justify money and effort expended on it, and the loss of college time?

2. Should Spardi Gras—

- (a) Be discontinued next year?
- (b) Be held again, but at a time when it would not interfere with regular college program?
- (c) Be held at the same time this year, but with the regular class schedules maintained?
- (d) Be held on the same basis

SMITH TALKS ON NEWSPAPER LIFE

"The Newspaper in American Life" will be the subject of a talk by Paul C. Smith, general manager of the San Francisco Chronicle, given in the Adult Center Public Forum at 7:30 tonight in the Horace Mann school.

He will use the first hour for his talk and will answer questions the second hour, asked by the audience. The public is invited.

Marsupials Pay Visit To Nature Study Class

"Anybody here want to see some marsupials?"

This query by Dr. Karl Hazeltine, addressed to Miss Emily Smith's 2 o'clock Nature Study class Thursday, upset usual class procedure not a little.

The marsupials proved to be Mama 'Possum and her six little baby 'possums, all snuggled warmly in Mama's kangaroo-like pouch.

Caught at Hayward by Glenn Vargas, former San Jose State college student, the 'possum family was temporarily disrupted for several minutes as the younger members, under Mama's watchful eye, were passed around to be examined.

State Head Will Talk On Speech Correction Today

Members of the San Jose State college Speech department will be hosts to Mrs. Mabel F. Gifford, State head of Speech Correction, today who will address students interested in speech correction at one o'clock in Room 155.

Mrs. Gifford's talk will concern itself with speech correction problems with the emphasis on stammering.

San Jose State college being the only State college having the permission to grant the Special Credential for Correction of Speech Defects, Mrs. Gifford has shown unusual interest and enthusiasm for the work of the college clinic and speech classes, Mr. Hugh Gillis, department head, said. She will also make a survey of the work being done here along those lines.

"Mrs. Gifford has done much to put speech correction on a solid basis in California and has materially added to the possibilities of added jobs for speech correction candidates," Mr. Gillis stated.

Thirty-Four Vie For Seven Posts; Polls Open 8-5

The first chapter of the 1939 political activity of Washington Square will culminate today when some 3000 students go to the polls in front of the Morris Dailey auditorium to cast their ballots for a new seven-membered council that will rule the student body for a new year beginning next fall.

With thirty-four students, including five women, on the ballot, the polls will open at eight this morning and close at five p.m. to allow students to cast their choice for the new governing board.

Practically every department on the campus will have a representative on the ballot.

Bob Work, election judge, urges all students to come to the polls and cast their votes, but warns that no "ballot-stuffing" will be tolerated and anyone attempting to

L. A. HARPIS HERE FRIDAY IN CONCERT

The fourth annual Chamber Music Concert, to be presented in the Little Theater on Friday night, May 19, will feature Mrs. Carroll Cambern, renowned harpist from Los Angeles, according to Miss Frances Robinson, under whose direction the program will be given.

SYMPHONY HARPIS

Mrs. Cambern, for seventeen years only woman harpist of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, played here in the Ravel Septet program last year.

The program will be given in inverse chronological order, beginning with the work of modern day composers, and closing with one of Bach's concertos.

The String Quartet op. 10 of Paul Hindemith, contemporary German composer, will open the program. Mr. Hindemith, also a viola virtuoso, was guest conductor and soloist with the San Francisco Symphony during the recently completed season.

The French composer, Chausson, will contribute the second number, a concerto with violin and piano, with string quartet accompaniment. Soloists will be Leslie Jarret, violinist from New York, and

YOSEMITE TRIP PLANS FORMED BY GEOLOGISTS

Four days at Yosemite.

That is what is in sight for San Jose State geology students who plan to leave San Jose Saturday, May 27, and return Tuesday, Memorial Day, according to Mr. Wayne Kartchner, geology instructor who will accompany the group.

Thirty students have so far signed up for the field trip, with more expected to attend. Main purpose of the expedition is to acquaint the Spartans as to what has formed the present picturesque area, Kartchner said.

A study of the floor of the valley will be made Saturday, while on Sunday a hike to Half Dome will be on the main list of events. Monday will be devoted to a visit to a museum and a motor trip to various well-known locations. A continuance of this trip will be carried on the next day, the students to arrive home in the evening.

♦ Do Away With Spardi Gras?

Bob Work

It seems there is a rumor about the campus that claims a sizeable following dedicated to the crusade of doing away with the entire Spardi Gras celebration.

The idea is, it seems, to do away with the whole day; the carnival, contests, football game, Revelries, and all. The reason given for this proposal (and this really knocked me over) is that not enough of the students are interested in the whole affair to justify the time and money expended in preparation.

Not enough people interested?

Didn't I see a larger percentage of costumes worn than has been the case in any previous year?

Didn't I see at least half of the student body on the San Carlos street turf on hand to witness the contests and football game?

In the light of these figures the accusation of "lack of interest" in our ten-year tradition seems to me to be thoroughly unfounded. In the first place I don't believe that the above mentioned rumor ever existed. It seems to be nothing other than the fanciful product of those people who for some reason feel that Spardi Gras is getting too big for the institution.

It is fortunate that the problem is to be left to the decision of the student body through the medium of tomorrow's poll, the outcome of which is almost self-evident. This also will effectively eliminate the possibility of a student strike of which there had been some talk in case the situation had been handled differently.

To my mind the most unfortunate incident in the whole business is that the discussion against Spardi Gras seems to indicate that this year's festivities did not reach the expected standard. This reflection, of course, falls directly on the shoulders of George Place, successful director of Spardi Gras for two years.

Anyone who took part this year is well aware as to the erroneousness of such an implication. It was a fine celebration. The best we have ever had. How can we possibly be thinking of doing away with it?

Praise Where Praise Is Due

One college activity which definitely is deserving of more praise than it usually gets are the San Jose Players' Little Theater productions.

These students, whether or not they be drama majors, come into the limelight only when one of the productions is being presented, but they spend hours of time and nearly a month before presentations working on every phase of the theater—then for two nights bring their efforts before the public to be praised or damned.

Regardless of criticism, good or bad, given these Players productions, San Jose State college has a right to be proud of this student body activity, and there has yet to be presented this season a play unworthy of anybody's attendance. The quality of both ends of San Jose Players' productions, technical and dramatic, is high above the average amateur class.

It is well worth noting too, that the Drama department at this college has the courage to present original drama—in place of sticking to the tried and true masterpieces which feature the entire programs of most college and community theatricals.

Such a step is one to be encouraged and too great praise cannot be given the faculty staff of a college department for writing and producing these. We would like to see more of them.

—Rodrick.

If I Am Elected...

Editors' Note: The two platforms below were accidentally left out Friday:

Hugh Staley

This platform is in the behalf of Hugh Staley, who in the estimation of many, is as fit for the position of councilman as any candidate running. Representing the student body with all fairness to the administration will be the main plank in the platform, but should there be any question that might arise which could be settled by the student group, Hugh Staley will back them 100%.

Gene Rocchi

Political promises are often made as a last resort to obtain votes and are frequently broken afterwards. For this reason I am making no promises.

My platform shall be concise and right to the point.

I am to represent the student body in as advantageous a manner as to be beneficial to the greatest number of students.

Record Turnout Expected

Political activity on Washington Square reaches its turning point today when San Jose State college goes to the polls to name the seven-membered council which will direct the Associated Student government next year.

And the question confronting the election board today is just how many will go to the polls to take part in the election? Indications point towards a record turnout for the voting, but last year's election also received a record vote.

Surprising as it may seem, the record turnout last spring saw only 1,500 students visit the polls. This, from a college student body that numbered over 3,000, represents a lack of initiative. The voting procedure requires less than five minutes, but despite this at least half of the local student body passed up the chance to participate in the selection of its governing body.

San Jose State college students owe it to themselves to cast their vote today. The result of the election represents the majority of the voters, but a half-way vote does not equal the majority of the student body.

Three factors favor a big turnout at the polls. First, there is a record number of candidates vying for the offices. Second, campaign managers have covered the campus with posters seeking support for their candidate. Third, almost every department on the campus has placed a candidate in the council race.

It all points towards a record-breaking vote on the student council election, but the final tabulations will reveal whether or not the indications will hold up in the outcome.

Whether he has a list of favorites or not, each member of the local student body should visit the voting booth today and name his choices for the San Jose State college student council.

—Merrick.

Finn In Five-Way Tie For First In Pole Vault Event

OTHER SAN JOSE TEAMS FAIL TO PLACE IN WEST COAST RELAYS

San Jose's four-man team fell inches short of winning the college mile relay championship at the 13th running of the annual West Coast Relays at Fresno Saturday night.

A whirlwind finish by Foggy Lovvorn enabled the George Pepperdine College flyer to overtake Spartan Captain Owen Collins in a thrilling home stretch duel that was won in 3:20.2.

FINISH TOO MUCH

Len Herman, running third lap for the San Jose team, handed Collins the baton and a five-yard lead, and the Spartan captain almost doubled that margin in the backstretch and looked like a winner until Lovvorn put on his withering final drive.

San Jose's Vin Ruble came home in front in the first lap of the race and gave Jim Kerr a two-yard getaway, but the latter was hampered by a spike injury sustained in practice last week, and was six yards behind when he handed the baton to Herman.

FINN WINS

Al "Mickey" Finn gave San Jose a surprise five-way tie for first place in the pole vault. None of the vaulters, including the University of Southern California's celebrated Day and Howe, were able to go higher than 13 feet one inch. Tony Sunseri, Sparta's other vaulter, who has cleared the winning height consistently during the current season, was unable to place.

San Jose's other entrees ran into too stiff a brand of competition and went unplaced. Ed Vasconcellos and Charles Bendeich had difficulty reaching the needed distance in the broadjump, while Don Presley could not place in the shot.

C.C.C. MEET

This week the Spartans will resume their State college track warfare when they travel to Santa Barbara Saturday to participate in the California College Conference meet. Other schools competing will be Fresno, San Diego, and Santa Barbara State colleges.

Alumni Gridgers Sign Dee Portal For Turf Clash

Boxing Coach Plays At Guard For Vets

Drawing talent from the last nine graduating classes, Coach Bull Lewis of the newly-formed Alumni team announced yesterday that De Witt Portal, "30", has been added to the roster as a guard and will perform with "hasbeens" and "never wases" in their game with the Spartan varsity next Thursday afternoon.

Sending a wire to Herb Hudson and Glenn Dubose, both former star guards, Lewis announced that if both of these men accept he will be able to field one of the strongest teams ever to grace the Spartan turf.

PRICE AT CENTER

The only man playing out of position for the veteran team will be "Nibs" Price, former end, who will take over the duties at the snapperback spot, shifting to end on defense. Bob Berry and Lloyd Wattenbarger will play offensive end and move out to defensive half.

At tackles, Mitch Uovich, Art Carpenter, Bob Drexel, and Bruce Daily will carry the brunt of the Warner attack which all of these boys will have their first defensive look at Thursday.

STRONG BACKFIELD

In the backfield Bull Lewis will play quarterback, Captain Walt McPherson will handle the fullback chores with Gene Rocchi and Keith Brien playing left and right half respectively.

Internationals Seek Lead In Softball Play

Tomorrow afternoon on San Carlos field the Internationals, tied at the present time with the Dark-horses for first place in the Intramural softball tournament, will seek to take undisputed lead of the league when they do battle with the Stooges.

TIE FOR LEAD

The Internationals have won three and lost one game during the current season. They lost their opening game to the mighty 1000 club, but have been going like a house on fire ever since. The Dark-horses, who draw a bye this week, were upset last week by the Stooges 14 to 4, which put them into a tie for first place.

Today the Stooges, who are making a habit of upsetting leaders, will try to turn the tables on the Internationals. If this happens the race for the title will be one of the closest in the history of softball tournaments.

1000 CLUB RETURN

Still very much in the picture is the 1000 club, who returns to the field of battle after a week's rest to cross bats with the Left-overs. The club has won two games and lost one, this being at the hands of the Jugglers, 5 to 4.

FROSH WIN 440-YARD RELAY TO NAB MEET FROM STOCKTON J. C.

Conceded only an outside chance to win, the frosh closed its swimming season by beating the favored Stockton J. C. team by five points last Friday afternoon. The final score was 40-35.

Hinging on the last event, the 440-yard relay, the Spartlet four-some of Williams, Mack, Hatch, and Bartels clicked to win the event in four minutes and seven seconds.

Forbes Mack swam the 50-yard event in the surprisingly fast time of 26 seconds. Arata was in top form, executing some difficult dives to win over Davis of Stockton. Meyer of San Jose was third. Hatch grabbed a first in the century in 1 minute and 3 seconds.

Mack and Hatch, the breast-stroke twins, came through as expected, to win the 200-yard breast-stroke event in 2 minutes and 48.5 seconds. Bartels, Campbell, Meyer, and Mann, were other Staters to place for San Jose.

Results:

300 medley relay: Stockton (Van Dyke, Jacobsen, Bird), San Jose (Mann, Arata, Meyer). Time 3:27.7. 220-yard freestyle: Owens (S), Bartels (Fr), Campbell (F). Time 2:37.7.

Barrie Play Praised By Drama Critic; Froehlich, Pagenhart Outstanding

By WILLIAM McLEAN

"Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire", by the late Sir James Barrie, is a light—very light—comedy of no particular "significance", exploiting a situation in which a couple of daughters attempt to restrain what they think is the promiscuity of their mother, reversing the usual situation.

The girls are stage-struck—smitten by the very mellow drama of the turn of the century, and they proceed to reflect in their lives the stagey situations and attitudes they have seen in plays.

The cast as a unit showed more skill and enthusiasm than has been apparent in some other productions of the San Jose Players. The play could not carry itself; it was the kind of thing that would be funny if the cast made it funny, but not otherwise. It WAS funny.

With the first big part I've seen her in, Ruth Froehlich, as one of the daughters, performed excellently well. She read her lines with a gratifying felicity, and one felt that she was at home on the stage. What more do you want?

But, to my mind, the outstanding performance was by Tom Pagenhart, the Essence to Adolescence—brother to Miss Froehlich. Of course he looked like the character he was playing, but setting this advantage aside, his acting warrants several jolly good cheers, showing, as it did, a nice sense of the laughable.

Howard Chamberlain, always good, was ditto in a rather unexceptional role as Colonel Grey. Ingenious but definitely appealing was John Knapp in the part of Stephen Rollo, the unintentional villain of the piece. Knapp is no Barrymore as far as technical tricks of acting go, but his unassuming and sincere manner is very comforting.

Emma Borzone is inclined to let mannerisms take the place of acting, which is slightly annoying, and Babs Granite was a little bit clownish. Miss Granite, however, in the main, was a real pleasure.

Even more of a pleasure, though was a newcomer who is an absolute natural: Dorothy Rankin. She made a big impression with a very small part as a scullery maid. Really an absolute natural.

Charlotte Rideout and Julie Donovan, in small parts, did their bits well.

The play was directed by Margaret Douglas, and responsible for the excellent sets were Wendell Johnson and Peter Gilli.

DEPARTMENTS AID PRODUCTION

Plans for the Annual Swim Extravaganza "Three Tails", to be given in the swimming pool May 22 and 23 at 8:00 o'clock, are progressing rapidly under the able cooperation of nearly every department in school, Miss Gail Tucker, director of the affair, announced Friday.

ATTRACTIVE POSTERS

Attractive posters to be seen in the hallways have been made by members of the Art department under the supervision of Miss Estelle Hoisholt. Georgianna Kann, senior art major, has designed the covers for the programs.

Miss Lucille Hubbard, music major, is responsible for arranging and directing the musical background.

Peter Gilli and Jim Loi, of the Speech department, are in charge of scenery and lighting.

Mr. Joseph Stillwell, superintendent of grounds, with the assistance of Mr. Grant and Mr. Rudin are busy constructing the platform and other properties.

The Home Economics department under the supervision of Antoinette Brakey is in charge of the costumes for the show. Sixty-five girls are participating in the show and they too, represent many different departments in the school.

REHEARSAL AT 6:30

Rehearsals for the show begin at 6:30 tonight and, according to Miss Tucker, every girl participating must be dressed in their suits in the bleachers at that time.
